WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?

SCHOOL EDUCATION & EXAM PREP

Primary and secondary education are a core focus of the NDLI. Comprehensive collections of textbooks, supplements, multimedia lessons and virtual labs serve school students of every grade and subject. The NDLI also hosts curated collections of exam prep materials such as question banks, tutorials, solutions and test guides from leading publishers and ed-tech firms.

HIGHER EDUCATION & CAREERS

Serving learners in the higher education segment is among the NDLI's chief strengths. A vast range of knowledge products across disciplines caters to every academic requirement of students, faculty and researchers at colleges, universities and specialized institutions. The NDLI is also an enabler of professional growth, with collections that support career development, in-service training, skilling, adult education, and technical and vocational education.

RESEARCH

Uniquely, the NDLI is a live research facility, curating specialized corpuses of knowledge to address contemporary research needs. Drawing on premium global and Indian repositories, it promotes a 360° research orientation, including cutting-edge scientific research; scholarly journals, monographs and reports; datasets and multimedia research tools; as well as newspaper and heritage archives to support historical research.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

A multidisciplinary approach to learning and research underpins the NDLI's efforts to promote quality education. With over 25 million open resources on science, technology, engineering and allied fields, and over 10 million on the humanities, social sciences and arts, the NDLI seeks to foster a spirit of interdisciplinary inquiry among learners.

OUR GLOBAL FOOTPRINT

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

We partner with intergovernmental bodies, global consortia and foundations, and international and regional library associations. Our ongoing collaborations include:

Organizing flagship biennial symposia to identify and share global best practices in the digital library space

Jointly steering a global initiative to educate stakeholders about standardizing the right-to-use parameters for digital heritage

Promoting the discovery of India's published heritage and culture by mutually sharing and integrating content between Wikidata, Wikisource and the NDLI

COUNTRY-LEVEL ORGANIZATIONS

We work closely with national nodal bodies for education, educational institutions of all levels, and libraries and library associations. We are expanding our partnerships with leading institutions in Asia, Africa and the Middle East. We also continue to work on areas of common interest with organizations in other regions such as the British Library, Europeana, Library of Congress, New York Public Library and Trove.

LET'S COLLABORATE

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

We would love to partner with you to promote

- ▶ Access to education and knowledge
- ▶ Open solutions, open access and OER
- ▶ Multilingualism in cyberspace

COUNTRY-LEVEL INSTITUTIONS

We could partner in three ways. Let's get started!

LEVEL 2

SHARING CONTENT

WHAT

Encourage partners to share e-resources

HOW

Help develop Institutional Digital Repositories and share metadata

WHAT IT MEANS FOR YOU

- ▶ Greater visibility and use of your e-resources
- ▶ Overseas access to your knowledge repositories
- ▶ Promotion of your institution through NDLI's web platforms

LEVEL 3

DEEP COLLABORATION

WHAT

Longer-term collaborations

HOW

Digital library development; Knowledge sharing; Technology transfers; Exchange programmes; Joint projects

WHAT IT MEANS FOR YOU

- ▶ Institutional capacity building
- ▶ Acquiring knowledge, technology and best practices
- ▶ Learning through exchange programmes and joint research

BUILDING AN ECOSYSTEM OF PEER LEARNING

We have pioneered a model for the mass mobilization of youth in order to promote an open culture of peer learning and knowledge sharing. Our model is easily replicable and scalable. We would be delighted to work with you to help young communities learn, share and grow.
